

Relax...

...We have the solution

Finding the right cable for an application can be challenging. Not only must the cable get the job done, it also has to survive often harsh environments. Factors such as oil, mechanical stress, and high temperatures can greatly impact cable performance and service life.

Choosing the cable with the appropriate characteristics saves time, money and headaches.

At HELUKABEL® we share our technical expertise with customers and help them select the proper cable for their application. Plus, our large inventory allows us to deliver within very short lead times.

So relax, we have the solution for you.

Seal the deal with HELUKABEL® cable glands:

Glands protect the cable from damage, provide strain relief, and seal the lead-through for a dirt- & dust-free environment. Call 855-HELUUSA for more information.
